Dear President David,

The World Antimicrobial Awareness Week will be celebrated once again this year to encourage One Health Approach in addressing Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR), increase stakeholders' awareness, and promote prudent use of antimicrobials. The Bureau of Animal Industry (BAI) together with other national government agencies and various stakeholders has been involved in different activities relevant to AMR awareness, primarily through Information, Education, and Communication (IEC) campaigns.

We truly believe that educating students is a great opportunity for us to convey our message in combatting AMR as this is a universal campaign. Thus, the DA thru the BAI and the FAO-AMR project, will be conducting a Students' Forum, to reintroduce the concepts of AMR, the Philippine National Action Plan, the regulations involved and awareness on the prudent use of antimicrobials.

In this regard, we would like to seek assistance in the conduct of Students' Forum prioritizing veterinary students and participated as well by allied medical and animal science students in your university, to promote the cause and relevance of AMR. The said activity targets 100 to150 participants, conducted in a face-to-face set up, and slated on August 15, 2024. The activity is composed of lectures and interactive activities tailored for students. The preferred venue within the University shall be identified by the Dr. Tanquilut as the overall University coordinator of the activity. Please refer to the attached tentative program and the mechanics for the poster making contest and quiz bee.
