Ma'am/Sir:

This is to respectfully submit a narrative report on participation to the seminar/training entitled "Talimahin: Professional development and effective communication lecture series held on April 8, 10, 23, 2025 via Zoom.

- Highlights of the training/activity

Title: Handle with Care: Harnessing Strategies to Address Conflict in the Workplace
Resource Speaker: Mr. Rogelio T. Estrada Jr.

The seminar titled "Handle with Care: Harnessing Strategies to Address Conflict in the Workplace" was an insightful and engaging session that focused on understanding and managing conflicts in professional environments.

Mr. Rogelio T. Estrada Jr., our esteemed resource speaker, provided valuable knowledge on identifying the root causes of workplace conflict. He emphasized the importance of self-awareness, effective communication, and emotional intelligence in managing disputes and fostering a harmonious work environment.

Participants were introduced to various conflict resolution techniques, including active listening, collaborative problem-solving, and assertive communication. These strategies were further reinforced through interactive role-playing activities, allowing attendees to practice and apply what they learned in realistic scenarios.

Our Key Takeaways

- Conflict is a natural and inevitable part of any workplace, but when handled properly, it can lead to growth, innovation, and stronger relationships.
- Developing strong communication and interpersonal skills is essential for resolving disputes effectively.
- Empathy, respect, and a willingness to understand others' perspectives play a crucial role in conflict management.
- Practical exercises such as role-playing can enhance confidence and preparedness when facing actual conflict situations.

Overall, the seminar equipped participants with practical tools to address and resolve workplace conflicts constructively, contributing to a more respectful and productive work culture.

Title: Imagine mo bigla kang sumakses: Pursuing Proactive Career Development in Librarianship
Resource Speaker: Ms. Roana Marie Flores-Solemos

The second session entitled "Imagine mo bigla kang sumakses: Pursuing Proactive Career Development in Librarianship" was a highly motivating and forward-thinking presentation led by Ms. Roana Marie Flores-Solemos.

Ms. Flores-Solemos shared practical strategies for librarians aiming to grow and succeed in their careers. Her talk covered key areas such as leadership and mentoring programs, opportunities for training and research grants, the importance of library networking, and continuous professional development.

She encouraged participants to take initiative in shaping their career paths by being proactive, open to learning, and actively engaging with the professional community. The session highlighted real-life experiences and success stories that inspired attendees to reflect on their own journeys and set meaningful goals.

Our Key Takeaways

- Proactive career development starts with self-awareness and a commitment to lifelong learning.
- Opportunities for growth are abundant—librarians just need to take the initiative to seek them out.
- Building strong networks and engaging in mentorship can open doors and accelerate career progress.
- Success in librarianship goes beyond traditional roles; it involves innovation, leadership, and active participation in the professional community.

Overall, the session provided valuable insights and actionable steps for librarians who aspire to thrive and make a lasting impact in the field.

Title: Gusto Ko Maging Leader, Eh Ikaw?: Understanding Transformational Leadership in Libraries
Resource Speaker: Asst. Prof. Emmanuelle C. Manalang

The last session, led by Asst. Prof. Emmanuelle C. Manalang, explored the concept of transformational leadership in the context of libraries. It emphasized how librarians can go beyond traditional management roles to become visionary leaders who inspire, motivate, and empower their teams. Transformational leadership was presented as a framework that fosters innovation, collaboration, and adaptability—qualities essential in the ever-evolving landscape of library and information services.

Key characteristics of transformational leaders discussed included:

- Idealized Influence: Serving as role models with integrity and strong ethical values.
- Inspirational Motivation: Communicating a compelling vision that ignites enthusiasm.
- Intellectual Stimulation: Encouraging creativity and critical thinking.
- Individualized Consideration: Mentoring and supporting the personal development of staff.

The talk also highlighted the importance of self-awareness, emotional intelligence, and proactive communication in cultivating leadership skills. Prof. Manalang encouraged librarians to embrace change, lead with purpose, and invest in continuous learning—not just for themselves but also to uplift their institutions and the communities they serve.

Our Key Takeaways

- Transformational leadership is essential in modern librarianship
- Leadership begins with self-awareness
- The four I's of transformational leadership
- Effective communication and emotional intelligence
- A good leader adapts to change
- Leadership is not about position—it's about action and influence
- Investing in people leads to empowered team
