Ma'am/Sir:

This is to respectfully submit the narrative report of my attendance, as HEI representative, in 5th Microbiology Consortium of the Philippines general assembly held at the University of Santo Tomas last August 27, 2025.

- Highlights of the training/activity

The assembly commenced with the review and approval of the minutes of the previous general assembly, followed by the discussion of concerns of member institutions. One of the main concern of is the capacity building of their faculty members, especially on highly technical Microbiology courses. Another is an inquiry on member institutions offering non-degree courses that could be taken by students who are lacking course units necessary to take the PAM certification exam. One of these member institutions is UPLB. Professors from the university confirmed that students from other schools could enroll to their program. The next agendum was the MCP Chair's and Treasurer's reports. The chair discussed the increasing number of member institutions but most of which have similar problems—the lack of PAM-certified roster of faculty members. There were many problems raised but the body agreed that only problems of member institutions should be addressed and everyone also agreed that a separate meeting should be held to discuss a workplan and implementation guidelines to address these problems.

Another highlight is the discussion of the development of the CHED roadmap for microbiology education with Dr. Papa as the chair. He urged the members of MCP to participate in this project and have also announced that separate meetings will be held for this. Finally, the MCP council election was held and a new set of officers took oath. The new MCP website was also initially launched.
