Subject: Proposal for the Establishment of the PSAU Global Student Ambassadors Program

Dear President David:

Greetings of peace and bliss!

In support of reinforcing the University's internationalization and global branding initiatives, the Office of Public Affairs and International Linkages (OPAIL) has been supervising the PSAU Global Student Ambassadors Program — an extension with a collection of culturally sensitive and leadership-oriented student representatives that adequately represent the University in engaging with local and international visitors, delegations, and partners within formal events. The program augments the office's international hosting capacity by facilitating protocol, tours, and cultural presentations.

As such, the Office would like to propose the formalization of the aforementioned program as it will serve as a vital component in the University's promotional and collaborative activities, underscoring student involvement as a key driver of institutional growth.

Accordingly, the Office shall oversee the recruitment and evaluation of qualified applicants, implementing a rigorous screening process based on academic merit, communication proficiency, and leadership potential to ensure the cohort effectively embodies the University's image.

Additionally, please see the attached detailed documents, specifically the guidelines and selection criteria, for your reference and approval.

We look forward for your favorable response towards this matter. Thank you very much for your continued support of our internationalization efforts.

Respectfully,

ASST. PROF. CARLO D. DE DIOS
Director for Public Affairs and International Linkages

Proposal for the Establishment of the PSAU Global Student Ambassadors Program

Proponent: Office of Public Affairs and International Linkages (OPAIL)

For: Approval of the Office of the President

I. Background and Rationale

In line with Pampanga State Agricultural University's (PSAU) commitment to internationalization, global engagement, and reputation-building, the Office of Public Affairs, Information, and Linkages (OPAIL) proposes the establishment of the PSAU Global Student Ambassadors Program.

As PSAU continues to strengthen its international partnerships, mobility programs, and global visibility, there is a growing need for a dedicated group of student representatives who can authentically promote the University's academic excellence, culture, values, and achievements to local and international audiences. Global Student ambassadors serve as credible peer representatives and cultural bridges, particularly in engagements with foreign partners, visiting delegations, international students, online collaborations, and global academic events.

The PSAU Global Student Ambassadors will function as an extension of OPAIL's internationalization and public affairs efforts, supporting branding, protocol, and intercultural initiatives while providing leadership and professional development opportunities for selected students.
